Old Bible Found By Workmen at Church

The workmen engaged in remodeling the Methodist church have uncovered an old Bible which is the original Bible presented jointly to the Antioch Baptist Society and the Methodist Society when they first united in the service of worship in March 1882. Spicer and Bernolffo Chosen By Officials For 'All-Star Teams one that prevented Waukegan from walking all over New Trier.

At the forward berth, we decided on Kleiner, of Maine, as a running mate for Hudrums. Kleiner was only six points behind the "whitehead" in total scoring and was Maine's threat against Waukegan.

On the second team we have Paluchus, Waukegan, and Bernolffo of Antioch. Paluchus is captain of the squad. His cool head and natural ability made him one of the most dangerous players in the meet. Bernolffo, a wonderful side-floor shot, is his running mate. "Joe" was one of the fastest men in the tournament.

Kenneth Ryckman of Waukegan, is one of the best guards we have ever seen in action and we place him second only to Spicer as the most valuable player to his team. Taking the ball off the backboard was easy for him and he seldom missed. He is the left guard on the first team.

Krakora, Maine's stellar guard, is partner and a tower of strength. His ability as a shot was demonstrated in the Evanston game, which he won by a last minute finger. A real partner for Ryckman.

The second team selections are quite different to say the least. We finally decided upon Holte, Arlington Heights, at right guard, and George Mills, Waukegan, at left guard. You will have to go a long ways to beat this pair.

Among those who deserve honorable mention are: Lindgren, Waukegan; Nelson, New Trier; Maki, Waukegan; Wahl, Arlington Heights; Sheehan, Antioch; Cough, Maine; Holland, New Trier, and Gillings, Gurnee.

Former Resident Dies In Waukegan Hospital

Mrs. Elsie Buttrick, aged 78 years, died in the Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan Wednesday morning from injuries she received in a fall resulting in a broken hip last Saturday.

The funeral services will be held at two o'clock Friday afternoon from the Methodist church in Waukegan and burial will also be in that city.

Mrs. Emmet King Wins Prize

Emmerson Scores Use Of State Funds for Political Use

exercised these powers. Since 1922 it has been going through the motions of equalizing assessments between counties and between classes of property, but these equalized values have not been reported back to local officials and so the levies have been made on assessments as they passed the county boards.

"One of the finest things I shall do, if I am elected Governor, is to select a tax commission which will function properly and perform the duties imposed upon it by law."

The great majority of the farms and small communities of the state get little benefit from the hard roads, Mr. Emmerson said, because they are not directly on them.

"It is of the utmost importance that we work out some plan for the surfacing of these secondary neighborhood and connecting roads. They need not be concrete, because the traffic on them is not as heavy as on main arteries, but they should have a hard durable surface that will make them serviceable in all seasons. I promise you, if I am elected Governor, to undertake the perfection of a plan for doing this work. It can be done without expense to the general taxpayer. We can, by careful planning and economic construction, extend the benefits of pavement to hundreds of thousands, providing hard roads not merely for through traffic using main arteries but for local and neighborhood service.

"Only five per cent of the highways of Illinois have been paved. Ninety-five per cent of our roads are dirt and during several months of the year are practically impassable. We have not completed road construction; we have only begun to build.

"Political use of public road funds is too high a price to pay for improvements financed with public money. You do not need to pay it. Your roads can be built more rapidly, the system can be extended and the work can be done at less cost under a business administration pledged to take the road out of politics."

FIRE DEPARTMENT TO ORDER SMOKE MASKS

At the regular meeting of the Antioch Volunteer Fire department it was announced that an order has been made for smoke masks. These will be a needed addition to their regular equipment.

Gas Necessary To Industry

As we read of the increasing use of gas in industry, or employ it in our household life for heating, cooking or lighting, it may be well to remember that a little over a hundred years ago it was practically an unknown quantity. For thousands of years the world had been without this great factor of progress.

Today, the great advantages of its use in industry are just beginning to be recognized. Every year sees new records broken in its consumption, and it has its part in producing an amazing number of commodities.

What Is a Public Utility?

Strange as it may seem, the above term is confusing to many people. Generally speaking, a public utility is a natural and necessary monopoly selling an indispensable service to any and all people in its territory, upon demand.

Such commodities as electricity, gas, transportation and the telephone are so indispensable to our very existence and the life and operation of every household, that they are called public utilities to distinguish them from the many products and services which we use, but which are not absolute necessities of modern household and industrial life.

ACCOMMODATING

"Say!" yelled a man who had had his feet run over for a third time while he was working under his car. "I'm getting tired of this! If you do it again I'll get up and kick your fiver to pieces!"

"I can't help it!" responded the small town girl who was learning to drive and not succeeding very well. "I don't know how to drive yet, and my car seems determined to run over something. I—"

"Ah, that's all right!" said the complainer, crawling forth. "I didn't see who you were. If you'll wait a minute I'll lie down in the street and let you run over me all you please."—Kansas City Times.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"SUBSTANCE" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, March 11.

The Golden Text was from Proverbs 3:3, "Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life" (1 Timothy 6:17,19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "That which material sense calls tangible, is found to be substance. What to material sense seems substance, become nothingness, as the sense-dream vanishes and reality appears" (p. 312).

It is a maxim, that those to whom everybody allows the second place have an undoubted title to the first.—Swift.

Kuttl Gives An Idea Of the Average Farm In This Community

Antioch's average farm can be taken each year so that any difference can be quickly seen. However, the main object of the survey is to find out weak spots in the livestock enterprise and correct them before trouble arises.

This year's survey leads us to the conclusion that the farm power question will have to be solved soon. It will be well to remember that one reason for the farmer's dilemma is on account of the great changes in our civilization, some of the farm products formerly used are no longer in demand. Oats and hay have been supplanted by gasoline. The question arises, does it pay to buy gasoline for a depreciating tractor, or grow hay and oats for a reproducing horse. Solve the problem for yourself.

Another conclusion from this year's survey leads us to remark that our dairy herds are not up to a high standard. They lack breeding and records of performance. We are doing a lot of guess work with a bunch of poor cows. Here is a wonderful opportunity for any young man, and it's an opportunity that will rival all others in generations to come. Begin the production of profitable cows, and start today.

The last conclusion draw, is that this average Antioch farm has more animal units per acre than is advised by economists. This means that we must either reduce our number of animals and increase the efficiency of the ones we retain; grow more feed for the ones that we now have; or increase the efficiency of the ones we now have and grow more of our own feed for them. The latter course is the most desirable for anyone who is to do a big business. Our

Methodist Church Notes

Much noise greets the visitor to the church during the week day as the workmen rush the work of decorating to completion. The main auditorium and the lecture room will be the first to be finished. With much effort the discoloration of many years is being removed, revealing the original beauty of the sanctuary.

Since the workmen have taken possession of the church the service of worship is conducted in the basement. Last Sunday found a wonderful group of worshippers present in spite of the inclement weather. The chorus choir were very much in evidence and sang the most wonderful anthem to the glory of God. Mr. Pollock has promised another treat for all who come out next Sunday. Your presence will be an inspiration to the singers.

The sermon theme, "I am calling you" will suggest the challenge to the Christian who would enjoy his religion to the fullest. Worship without service is empty. Putting religion into action is the command of the Master. Hear this sermon to find a place of service for yourself.

The evening service will be discontinued until the church auditorium is completed. Watch for the special announcement.

Contract Cancelled for Two Death Chairs

Consent to the death penalty and cancellation of the contract for construction of two electric chairs will not prevent adoption of electrocution in Illinois.

The contract for the chairs and attached apparatus for the two state penitentiaries was awarded to the W. D. Allison Co., Indianapolis, Ind., some time ago, but the head of that concern experienced a change of heart and cancelled his contract a few days ago.

W. J. Lindstrom, supervising engineer, division of architecture and engineering, in charge of building the death houses at Joliet and Chester, has awarded the contract to the S. M. Briggs Co., Rising Sun, Ind., with the stipulation that installation must be complete for the execution of Joseph Bella Verducci, who will pay the penalty for the killing of Julia Flaherty Danville. The electric chair in the Cook county jail has been in place for a month.

Abraham Lincoln was called handsome once in his life. It has been disclosed by a search of records by Prof. Sumner of the University of Wisconsin, who has unearthed a speech delivered by Lincoln at the Wisconsin state fair at Milwaukee on September 30, 1859.

At the time of the speech a newspaper reported the event said that Lincoln looked like a man made for wading in deep water.

"The speaker said he felt himself confirmed the writer, 'but I say he is handsome. He looks like an open hearted honest man grown sharp in fighting knives. He appears very much like Henry Clay without the flight, scowled and fiery enthusiasm. His address was short, sweet, Lincolnian. It did not please every body, I suppose, and therefore it was somewhat positive and good."

Night schools have night schools. Not to be confused with other industries, teachers of vocational agriculture in the high schools of the state have been authorized to establish classes wherever practical, by their state supervisors. J. E. Hill.

Night schools for farmers are an outgrowth of a successful effort to teach tractor engineering several months ago.

Nothing further said with the growth of the movement, Hill solicited the aid of the state department of agriculture. Now the work of the agricultural teachers is supplemented by speakers sent to the various classes from the state department.

Few people realize the importance of the duties devolving upon the Auditor of Public Accounts, Oscar Nelson. His office is probably one of the most important in the state cabinet. Not only does he have the supervision of some 1340 banks, but also something like 935 building and loan associations, together with the Trust companies, both state and national. Trust companies, insurance companies, Water loan corporations, Pawn Broker, services and Credit Union associations. He also has charge of all the land titles of the state, including the original grants and patents from the government and state and local all the revenues of the 142 counties of the state from the various taxing bodies and from the various courts for the state of Illinois, which run into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Every dollar, every cent and every fraction of a cent that is paid or received, all of which are listed through the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts, and is a task of great importance. With the growth of the state, the Auditor's office has become more and more important.

Thomas C. Coughlin, president of the United States, said at a state of Illinois, but made no mention of the state of Illinois. He said that he had been in the state of Illinois for some time and had seen many of the state's resources. He said that he had been in the state of Illinois for some time and had seen many of the state's resources. New Dairy Building
Assured for Aug. 1

Completion of the new dairy building on the Illinois state fair grounds before the opening of the annual exposition next August is practically assured. Plans and specifications are being worked out and present plans are to receive bids at an early date. Director S. J. Starnard of the department of agriculture has announced.

The proposed building will cost approximately $200,000, but the site for the structure has not been selected by the state fair advisory board. It will probably be located across the road from the coliseum. Construction of a swine pavilion also is under consideration, together with a poultry building.

Highways are glorified, and particularly Illinois highways, in a 500-page book written by Professor C. C. Wiley of the U. of I. Department of Highway Engineering and published by the New York book firm of McGraw-Hill.

"Without the highways," Prof. Wiley states in his book, "it would be impossible to build, maintain or operate the railroads, water routes or airways, nor would it be possible to establish and make use of any of the means of communication. The highway system spreads its ramifications throughout every city, village or countryside. It links together every industry and reaches every home."
